HINCKLEY & EGERY IRON COMPANY,

MACHINISTS AND IRON FOUNDERS,

BANGOR, MAINE,

Manufacturers of T. N. EGERY'S IMPROVED TURBINE WATER WHEEL,

Patented April 14, 1874.

This Water Wheel being of a cone form, gives it advantages over others in utilizing the power of the water.

In Wheels of this class where the buckets are perpendicular, the bottom of the Wheel has a tendency to run away from the top, since the water acting upon it has a greater head or fall, and consequently a more velocity, than the water acting upon the upper part of the buckets. For instance, if the wheel is one foot in depth from top to bottom, it has been demonstrated that the water at the bottom, having one foot more head, will in passing around a given circle, come in contact with the bottom of the bucket with a velocity so much greater than the velocity of the water at the top, that the tendency is to carry the Wheel around. It is not once or the wheel which would either waste at least the upper portion of the buckets. This is obviated in my wheel, by making the top of the Wheel about three feet less in diameter than the bottom, or, what is the same thing, placing the buckets in a slant, so that the bottom, for each foot it is farther from the top, is farther from the buckets to be acted upon equally by the water.

These Wheels have been proved by actual experiment to be more economical in the use of water, for the power obtained, as any made, and I have no doubt they become all that is claimed for them in all respects equal to any Water Wheel now in use.

Wheels from 48 to 84 inches in diameter, are made to order at the shortest notice, and at lowest market prices.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

FORTY FOURTH CONGRESS.—First Session.

Senate

WASHINGTON, June 19.

Mr. Sherman submitted a joint resolution that the Government of the United States continue to confer and negotiate to consider the important questions which have recently occurred in the Paris Conference of gold and silver, and the adoption of international measures for the use of both the substances, which, after full consideration, the President of the United States shall deem proper, and properly qualified persons are authorized to attend such a conference, and report to the 45th Congress. Referred to the Finance Committee.

The Senate insisted on its amendments to the post-office appropriation bill, and agreed to the conference asked for by the House.

The Senate then went into executive session to deliberate on the question of postponing the Belknap impeachment trial until November next.

After the doors were closed the Senate on motion of Mr. Thurman overruled the application for the resignation of the President pro tem.

Mr. Sherman submitted the following:

Ordered, That the paper presented by the defendant on the 13th inst., in the Belknap case, having failed to answer to the merits of the case.

An order was also adopted authorizing the Secretary of the Senate to issue subpoenas for witnesses desired by the respondent.

A committee consisting of Senators Frelinghuysen, Thurman and Christiancy was appointed to decide the expenses of these trials, to be paid by the United States, the others only to receive lawful fees from the respondent.

The Senate sat as a court of impeachment, adjourned to July 6th, and the legislative business was resumed. The Indian appropriation bill was called up, and the Senate soon after adjourned.

House

Mr. Cox was again chosen Speaker pro tem., in the absence of Speaker Kerr.

Mr. Goodrich of Ohio asked leave to offer a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury to inform the House why he has not complied with the resolution of the House calling for information in regard to collecting internal revenue collectors.

Mr. Hasson of Iowa objected until the army appropriation bill passed.

Mr. Ford of N. Y., chairman of the impeachment managers, was granted leave to withdraw a resolution he offered on Saturday, providing that Congress should meet in November next to proceed with the trial of Belknap.

The House proceeded to the consideration of bills pertaining to the District of Columbia. The bill authorizing the pavement of Pennsylvania avenue, one-third of the expense to be paid by the property owners, one-third by the United States, and one-third by the District of Columbia, passed—128 to 34.

A resolution providing for a joint commission of resident and non-resident citizens to form a suitable form of government of the District was discussed and passed.

A long debate occurred on the joint resolution allowing the Commissioners to expend $1000 for fire works on the 4th of July. Messrs. Neal, Crittenden and Bland opposing, and Harrison and Hardenburg supporting it, but on a vote there was no quorum.

A conference committee was appointed on the Post-office appropriation bill and the House adjourned.

To Josiah Caldwell, Chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, Washington.—

Have just read Scott's evidence about the bond transaction in the New York newspapers and fully corroborate it. I never saw Bliss nor any little Rock bonds, either myself or others. I know the building of the Eureka Springs railroad and cannot have been without great pecuniary loss, or would gladly, voluntarily come home and testify. Can make affidavit to this effect and mail if desired. (Not signed.)

No 6

To Josiah Caldwell, London. Cable in Tribune exceptionally strong. J. S. R. Philadelphia.

Testimony of the Cable Clerk

The testimony of Chas. A. Hicks, cable clerk of the Western Union Telegraph Company, was mainly in explanation of the operators' manner on the above despatches produced before him. The only important portion was the word Have, which was the registered address of Josiah Caldwell in London. He took this from the fact that the office was so notified by an office despatch from the other side. He could not, by the date of that notification, but thought it was some where about the 24th of May last.

A Letter from Mr Caldwell to Mr Blaine—The Suppressed Telegram fully authenticated

WASHINGTON, June 19. Mr. Blaine received by the mail of this morning a letter from Josiah Caldwell of which the following is a true copy. It authenticates the telegram received by the Judiciary Committee:

No 116 Cannon st. London E. C.
9th June, 1876

Hon. J. G. Blaine:

Dear Sir—I read in the New York papers of the 10th ult. Col. Scott's evidence before the Judiciary Committee, and I at once exhibited it to Mr. Hicks, the cable clerk, who at once produced the telegram, which I now inclose, and which I have no doubt you will find to be of the same character as that which I showed you in Washington. I have no recollection of the exact date, but it was about the 24th of May, and I should think it was the 26th. I showed it to you, and you said it was just what you wanted, and I understood you to say you would use it. I was very much surprised at the time that you did not do so, as it was the only thing I had seen which I thought would be of any use to you. I showed it to several persons, and they all agreed with me that it was the most important piece of evidence we had seen. I was very much surprised when I saw the evidence of Scott, and thought it was very strange that you did not use the telegram I had shown you. I was in hopes that you would do so, as I was very anxious that the matter should be thoroughly sifted, and I was sure that the telegram would be the means of bringing the matter to a speedy issue. I was very much surprised when I saw Scott's evidence, as I had shown him the telegram, and he said it was just what he had been trying to get at. I was in hopes that you would have had him recalled, and have had the telegram produced, as it would have saved you a great deal of trouble

A LOST HOUR.

A golden hour on a summer morn,
When all the world was still,
The dew was fresh in the dew-drown'd hay,
The dew was fresh on the fair young day
And the bridal veil of the fair young day
Hung o'er the purple hill.

The crickets chirped across the slopes,
Sweet as an organ chime,
Butterflies flitted athwart the dawn,
Bees went murmuring, busy and brown,
Over the fragrant thyme.

A languid calm and a dull content,
Silence instead of speech
The world slept low, and the lark sang high,
But the golden hour of our lives went by,
And drifted out of reach.

We wish we went back to an eager life,
But in its pause to-day
The dream in that golden hour came true,
And my jaded spirit feels and sees
For one chance so spiritually

Tiny years creep on, and the heart grows old,
Even of hope faithless,
And turns away from the world's strong whole
With fevered lips, that must ever pine
For that pure draught we spilled.

And yet, perchance, when our work day wanes
Amid the joy-lit lands beyond,
We shall meet again on the green hill side,
And find, in the solemn evening,
The hour we lost at noon.

DIRIGO HORSE RAKE!

Patented 1875.

The undersigned would respectfully call the attention of Farmers and Dealers to this Rake. As its name indicates, this is a DIRIGO RAKE. Our patent covers the two plate clamp for holding the teeth, by which the teeth are held firmly by tightening a nut. At the same time all pressure is taken off the rivets, rendering it safe to apply the power, under any strain of the lever, without danger of breaking. Also, the lever is so adjusted that it can be raised to the full length of the teeth, and yet the teeth may be held up by drawing the lever back, avoiding all hooks, springs, or other inconveniences. The wheels will be made of the best material, hubs of iron, and contain Sixteen spokes, each, making the best wheel ever offered in this country or city. These Rakes will have twenty four teeth made expressly for the Rake only—the best Steel, all tempered. We raise our own Leather, and saw our Rake Timber by our own water power, and get our castings of the largest concern in the state, thereby enabling us to compete with any one for price. Once tried, is sold. We also manufacture and keep in stock the celebrated Neal patent wooden tooth Rake, with hand lever and seat, at very easy one to handle, and large block theory wheel. And last, but not least, we have a few of the Numbers Rake, that work as well as the Dirigo. Agents wanted with samples in every town. Grangers treated like white folks. These Rakes to choose from, and prices low for cash or on time.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and save their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their addresses at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the address is put at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town box is fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carriers' Win low will be open for the delivery of letters from 8 to 9 o'clock A. M. and from 12 to 1 P. M. Sundays from 8 to 9 A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and return office on the left end of envelopes, if ordered at the same time they are furnished by the Post Office Department, samples of which may be seen at the finisher's window, which ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and state, across the left end of the envelope, on the outside, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus addressed, if not delivered to the persons addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First class envelopes of above form are $1 $2 $3 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes

cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

WEEKLY COURIER.

CAMPAIGN EDITION

For 1876.

To be Issued Three Months, beginning June 23d, and closing September 15th.

A NEWSPAPER FURNISHED AT LESS THAN COST.

In compliance with requests by many leading Republicans and with a desire to promote the dissemination of Republican principles and to aid in assuring the most emphatic Republican triumph in the approaching Presidential election, the Proprietors have decided to furnish the WEEKLY edition of the WHIG AND COURIER for the three months during the Campaign at a price hardly covering the cost of the white paper. The first number of the Campaign WEEKLY COURIER, which will be made up with the latest telegraphic and other news from our Daily, will be issued June 23d, nine days after the opening of the Centennial Convention at Cincinnati, June 14, and the Republican State Convention in Bangor, June 22, and the last number will be issued sept 15th, with a report of our State election.

The edition will comprise thirteen weekly numbers of the largest paper published in the State, each number accompanied by a two-page supplement, and will be furnished to new subscribers only, at the following low rates

One Copy, sent Postage paid, 35cts.

EXTRA INDUCEMENTS TO CLUBS.

Three Copies to one address,	$1.00
Ten Copies to one address,	3.20
Twenty Copies to one address,	6.00
Fifty Copies to one address,	14.00
One Hundred Copies to one address,	25.00

We have determined to make the Campaign COURIER as low price as only with the object of bringing to the attention of those who do not now take any Republican paper, the current information upon which sound political judgment should be based, and the merits and claims of the doctrines and principles which we advocate.

The coming Campaign will be one of the most important in our National history, and promises to exceed any previous contest in interest and excitement. It is already manifest that misrepresentation, calumny and contempt and reports will be freely employed to deceive the public, and it is essential that reliable and trustworthy information should be most widely circulated to counteract such misleading influences. Every citizen should especially post himself concerning public affairs during the progress of the Campaign, and the WEEKLY COURIER, with its forty-eight columns principally devoted to current news, will prove a most desirable compendium of information to be put in the hands of every voter.

Send in Subscriptions at once.

The Republican Town Committees and all other citizens who are interested in the success of the Republican cause are invited to render practical and valuable aid by taking prompt measures for placing the Campaign edition of the WHIG AND COURIER in the hands of every voter who is not now a subscriber. The price is merely nominal, and the efforts of two or three earnest Republicans in each town can readily insure a general circulation of the paper among the voting population.
